The Joncar and Ombría ravine is a humanized landscape belonging to Aielo de Malferit where traditional crops, country houses, corrals and some orchards close to the population merge

The environment we propose to explore is protected by the eastern foothills of the Serra Grossa, which forms like a small valley sheltered from the winds. The main artery is the Joncar ravine, which rises in the Ombria del Xorlit at an altitude of 800 m and empties into the Clariano river. The return takes place along the Umbría street, bordering the mountains and with wide views over the valley, the mountains and the town of Aielo de Malferit. Before reaching the town again, we will pass very close to the old Light Factory, a small power plant that brought light to the town in 1895 and supplied electricity in addition to Aielo to l'Olleria, Ontinyent even Bocairent. It is an environment that is worth visiting, as well as the Alla Baix bridge, next to the factory, built in the 16th century, an important element of access to the municipality, the old orchard and the Serratella that crosses the Clariano river and where it used to come from Ontinyent, and despite the years, it has resisted the strong avenues of the river. We can enrich our thematic route with a visit to the places of interest in Aielo, such as the Palace House of the lords of Malferit, declared a Site of Cultural Interest, and after its rehabilitation, it is the seat of the City Council. The 1880 liquor factory that became a supplier to the Royal House, currently in operation. And of course the Nino Bravo Museum that completes his personal and professional trajectory. A temple full of personal belongings, photographs, costumes, discography, press clippings and audiovisuals. A sample that will not leave you indifferent.

The Joncar's ravine

Roda La Vall d'Albaida

The Joncar's ravine Point of connection with the General Crossing: km 100. Aiolo de Malferit

The thematic route starts in the town of Aiolo de Malferit on an agricultural road, asphalted in its first section, with a certain unevenness that goes into the fields up to the foot of the mountain range. Depending on the time of year, they have an intense chromatism, as they are mostly deciduous fruit trees. This is a circular route that allows you to extend the general cycle tour and can be done by families with some experience. The route has hardly any technical difficulty, except for a section of the road that we will have to get off the bike because there are a lot of loose stones.
